四、阅读理解。

13. Dear Chris,

How are you? I hope you're well. I'm quite busy at the moment because I have to study for exams. We had two exams last week. I think they were OK, though I couldn't answer one of the questions on the Geography paper — I hate Geography!

Our school played in a tennis tournament (比赛) at the weekend. I played singles and doubles (单打和双打) and our team won! We had to play three matches. It was very hot so I felt very tired at the end of the day but I was very pleased with the result as you can imagine!

You know, I'd love to be a professional (职业的) tennis player. It's such a fantastic life. You travel all over the world and you earn lots of money. I know you have to practise every day for hours and hours, but I wouldn't mind that.

Write back soon and tell me how your football match went. Did you win?

Love,

Jim

五、任务型阅读。阅读短文。

15. People around the world said goodbye to the year 2018. Here's a look at how people celebrated the end of 2018 and the beginning of 2019.

Kiribati (基里巴斯)

Kiribati was the first in the world to ring in the new year. In the capital (首都) Tarawa, many celebrated with church (教堂) services and mostly quiet private events.

New Zealand

In Auckland, New Zealand, tens of thousands of people gathered (聚集) around the 328-meter Sky Tower to watch a firework (烟花) show. In other places, great crowds gathered on beaches and streets when fireworks went off above city centers and seaports.

Australia

One million people crowded the Sydney Harbor, as Australia's largest city began the new year with a memorable fireworks celebration. More than 13 percent people around the world watched the fireworks on TV. This year's fireworks show was one of the most complex in Australia's history.

China

People in China didn't celebrate New Year's Eve widely. The lunar New Year in February is a more important holiday. But some cities held (举行) countdown events. Beijing held an event with important guests at the Olympic park. The event looked ahead to the 2022 Winter Games, which will also be held in Beijing.
