on the bus. I found a three-star hotel with a swimming pool on the beach. It is very cheap — only 150 yuan a night, including (包含) breakfast! I can see and hear the sea (海) from my room.

Sanya is beautiful! The beach is clean and the water is really warm. Yesterday morning, I slept in the sun and swam in the sea. I learned to swim when I was two years old. I can swim very well. At noon, I ate in a small restaurant on the beach. The seafood was excellent. After lunch, I drove a motorcycle (摩托车) on the beach. I met some really nice people from London. Then we played beach volleyball. And we had dinner on the beach. At dinner time, two of them played their guitars. We danced and sang.

I planned (打算) to stay in Sanya for only three days, but I am still here. I don't want to leave! And I will stay two more days and then go to Beijing.

14. Is lunch your favorite part of the school day? The school lunches I grew up with may be different from yours.

Just like in China, schools in the US do provide lunch for students. But when I was a kid, it was also common for us to bring our own lunches to school. Every day, parents had to think about making a tasty (可口的) and healthy lunch for their children; kids could forget their lunch, or have a bully (校园恶霸) steal it.

And that's not all. Most US schools, after a certain (一定的) age, allow kids to go out for lunch. US kids can also get a driver's license (驾照) when they turn 16. After my friends and I turned 16, we would drive away from school and find something to eat. A common place for us to eat was our town's supermarket where they served fried chicken. After eating, we'd go to the park before we had to go back to class.

1. The story mainly talks about _____ in the US.
A. school lunches B. school bullies C. driver's licenses D. homework.
2. What does the underlined word "provide" mean in Chinese?
A. 制作 B. 提供 C. 零售 D. 生产
3. What do we know from Paragraph 2?
A. Chinese kids don't have school dining halls.
B. US kids can eat their own lunches or eat school food.
C. US kids do not like eating in school dining halls.
D. There are many bullies in US schools.
4. In most US schools, kids can go out for lunch when _____.
A. they are over a certain age B. they have their own car
C. they get their driver's license D. they are in a group
5. What can we learn from the last paragraph?
A. Chinese kids can get a driver's license at 16.
B. The writer liked eating fried chicken.
C. US students can have their classes in a park.
D. There are no afternoon classes in the US.

IV. 任务型阅读。（每题2分，计10分）阅读下面短文，并按要求完成以下小题。

15. I had a good time on my last trip. I went trekking (徒步旅行) in Nepal, a small country in the Himalaya Mountains of Asia. On the trekking trip, I walked for long distances through the mountains. There are very few (很少) roads in Nepal, so trekking is the best way to travel. It will be better(更好) if you hire(雇佣) a guide. The guide knows the best paths (路径) to take and they can also help trekkers with their bags. Sometimes our guide cooked food for us. Every day, we trekked for about four hours in the morning, and two hours in the afternoon. We slept in the large tents (帐篷). It was very interesting. I didn't want to go home in the end.
