二、阅读理解。阅读下面短文，从每题所给的A、B、C三个选项中选出最佳选项，并在答题卡上将该项涂黑。

2. One day, when Robert was cleaning his house, he found a big box. He wanted to put the box outside. He tried his best to move it, but the box would not move at all. After resting for a short time, the boy tried to move it again. He pushed (推) very hard but he couldn't even move the box a bit. He was too tired to go on, and he lost heart and was a little sad.

Robert's father came home from work at around that time. He stopped to watch what his son was doing. The father asked the boy, "Robert, did you try your best and do everything you can?"

"Yes, I did!" the boy cried.

"No, you didn't." His father said, "You didn't ask me to help you."

Asking for help isn't a weakness (弱点). At some point, even the best one needs help. It's important to know when to ask for help and why you need it. Never be afraid to ask others for help when you're in trouble.

- (1) What did Robert try to move out of his room?
A. A large heavy box. B. A small heavy box. C. Two heavy boxes.
- (2) The boy tried to do the thing _____.
A. with his parents B. with his father C. by himself
- (3) How did Robert feel after he tried again and again?
A. He became very happy. B. He felt very tired and sad.
C. He hoped he could move it later.
- (4) What can we learn from Robert's father?
A. He didn't want to help Robert. B. He wanted Robert to move the box by himself.
C. He wanted to tell Robert important things in life.
- (5) What can be the best title for the passage?
A. How to Ask for Help in Our Life B. How to Move a Heavy Box Away
C. Learn to Ask for Help When We Need

3. People use their mouths for many things. They eat, talk, shout and sing. They smile and they kiss. In English, the word "mouth" has many meanings.

In the restaurant, delicious food often makes "your mouth water". When you worry about someone, you have "your heart in your mouth".

Some meanings are not so nice. For example, if you say bad things about a person, the person may protest and say, "Do not bad mouth me."

Sometimes, people tell a person something they shouldn't say. The speaker says, "I really put my foot in my mouth this time." In other words, he feels sad for saying the wrong thing.

When one person is speaking, he says the same thing that his friend wants to say. When this happens, the friend may say, "You took the words right out of my mouth."

A boy has lots of money because he was born in a very rich family. We often say he with a silver spoon in his mouth.

This rich person is the opposite of the person who lives "from hand to mouth". This person only has enough money for the important thing in life — food.

- (1) "I really put my foot in my mouth this time." means _____.
A. I am sorry for what I say B. I am really worried about it
C. I really want to do this thing
- (2) When your friend says "You took the words right out of my mouth!", what do you say?
A. You are clever. B. I am very luck. C. My idea is like yours.
- (3) What does the underlined word "protest" mean in Paragraph 3?
A. 同意 B. 反对 C. 无所谓
- (4) If a person lives from hand to mouth, he must be very _____.
A. poor B. rich C. happy
- (5) The passage mainly tells us _____.
A. everyone in England has the same mouth
B. people use their mouths to do many things

C. the word "mouth" has many different meanings

4. Dear humans,

It's the first time for me to write to you, my children. I sent you many messages in the past, but you always overlooked (忽视) them. So I write you a letter.

First, let me tell you more about our family. Dear humans, besides you, I have many other children. Some of them fly in the sky; some of them swim in water; some live in ice-covered places; some run in the grasslands.

Some of them are as small as your fingernails (手指甲), such as bugs; some of them are as big as cars, such as elephants. They might live in your neighborhood, or even in your house. But you may never have the chance to meet others.

You bring them home to be your pets, friends, and helpers. You put them in zoos. You kill them for their meat and fur (毛皮). And you even catch them for fun. They bring you money and joy. But they also bring you danger and death.

I hope you can remember that wild animals are not your food, clothes or furniture. They are your brothers and sisters. You are equal. You should grow up together.

Humans, you are smart and hard-working. You created colorful cultures. You can decide where you go, as well as where I go.

But you don't respect me. You change my lands, my forests, my rivers. You ask me more than what I can give you. I'm worried that one day you will be lonely.

So, grow up, humans. Grow up to be more responsible (负责的). I hope you and all the wildlife can live happily in my arms.

Yours
