I feel upset these days, because my best friend Danny is still angry with me. Danny and I are in the same school but different classes. We usually have lunch together. Last Wednesday, it was very windy. When we were playing on the way back to school from lunch, I accidentally (意外地) pushed him too hard. As a result, he fell down. From then on, he stopped talking to me. What should I do?

Yours,
Joe

Dear Joe,

It's normal for friends to have problems. My advice for you is to write him a note. Explain to him that it was an accident. Tell him that you didn't mean to hurt him, and that you feel very sorry.

If a note doesn't seem like the best way, find some other ways. You can email him, send him a message, etc.

My experience with friends is that problems like this won't last for too long. Good luck!

Yours,
Maria
