4. The Green School on Bali Island

What does your dream school look like? John Hardy, a man from Canada, designs and builds his own dream school. He calls it the Green School. What is his dream school like? Let's look at it together.

The Green School sits on Bali Island. The students are aged from 3 to 19 years old. It doesn't look like a school, but it is green. Everything in the school is made of bamboo (竹子). The classrooms have no walls or doors. The teachers write on the bamboo blackboard. The desks are not square. Everything is so beautiful.

At school, there is a library, a computer room, a few teachers' offices and some classrooms. Children learn usual subjects, such as reading, writing and Maths. They also learn how to grow vegetables in the school's vegetable garden. There is a swimming pool for the kids to play in. There is also a small farm where children learn to keep goats, chickens and pigs. It is so much fun to go to the Green School.

More and more people are living around the Green School. It becomes a community.

5. Teaching Yourself

Students learn their lessons in class. In class teachers teach them. Students sit in the classroom listening to the teacher. This is a way of learning. Is this the only way for students to learn something? Of course not. There is another way to learn. That is, students can teach themselves. For example, if you cannot remember something when you are doing your homework, you can look at your book to find the answer. This is a way to teach yourself. And it is not a difficult thing. We can do this at any place and at any time.

How do you teach yourself? The first thing you must do is reading. Read something you are interested in, or you have to read. The second is that you must ask yourself questions. The question is something you don't understand, or you want to know more about it. You can write down these questions. A clever student is usually good at asking questions. The third is to answer the question by thinking hard, by reading the text or other books, and sometimes by asking other people. This is the way of teaching yourself. And you must do this all by yourself. If you keep doing like this for a long time, you are sure to succeed in your study.

- (1) Teaching yourself is a good way of learning because _____.
